PRAYER TO THE ALLIANCE OF THE TWO HEARTS

Hail, most loving Hearts of Jesus and Mary! We venerate You. We love and honor You. We give and consecrate ourselves to You forever. Receive us and possess us entirely. Purify, enlighten, and sanctify us so that we may love You, Jesus with the heart of Mary, and love You, Mary with the Heart of Jesus.

O Heart of Jesus, living in Mary and by Mary! O Heart of Mary, living in Jesus and for Jesus! O Heart of Jesus pierced for our sins and giving us Your Mother on Calvary! O Heart of Mary pierced by sorrow and sharing in the sufferings of Your Divine Son for our redemption! O sacred union of these Two Hearts.

Praise be God, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. Praise be the Holy Spirit of God Who united these Two Hearts together! May He unite our hearts and every heart so that all hearts may live in unity, in imitation of that sacred unity which exists in these Two Hearts.

Triumph, O Sorrowful and Immaculate Heart of Mary! Reign, O (Eucharistic and) Most Sacred Heart of Jesus! In our hearts, in our homes and families, in Your Church, in the lives of the faithful, and in the hearts of those who as yet know You not, and in all the nations of the world. Establish in the hearts of all mankind the sovereign triumph and reign of Your Two Hearts so that the Earth may resound from pole to pole with one cry: “Blessed forever be the (Eucharistic and) Most Sacred Heart of Jesus and the Sorrowful and Immaculate Heart of Mary!”

O dearest St. Joseph, I entrust myself to your honor and give myself to you that you may always be my father, my protector and my guide on the way to salvation. Obtain for me a greater purity of heart and a fervent love of the interior life. After your example, may I do all my actions for the greater glory of the Triune God in union with the (Sacred) Heart of Jesus and the Immaculate Heart of Mary. O Blessed St. Joseph, pray for me that I may share in the peace and joy of your holy death.

Amen

FATHER'S DAY

What Makes a Dad

God took the strength of a mountain,
The majesty of a tree,
The warmth of a summer sun,
The calm of a quiet sea,
The generous soul of nature,
The comforting arm of night,
The wisdom of the ages,
The power of the eagle's flight,
The joy of a morning in spring,
The faith of a mustard seed,
The patience of eternity,
The depth of a family need,
Then God combined these qualities,
When there was nothing more to add,
He knew His masterpiece was complete,
And so,
He called it ... Dad

Fr. Coleman's Retirement Party on June 17, is well into the planning stages. If you have not already RSVP'd, please do so! We want everyone to be able to participate in giving our best 'bon voyage' to Father as he prepares to leave Church Of Our Lady. The sign-up sheet is available in the west lobby or you can go online to: <https://www.punchbowl.com/parties/ed4e09468936e69ef299> for the electronic sign-up option.

We also want to remind everyone of the second collection taking place for the next couple of weeks for your donations to help us get Father some new wheels! He has over 200K miles on his current car and many problems are surfacing regularly. He has given us so much of his time, talent and treasure over the past 15 years that there is no way we can every repay or be grateful enough, but we can do something that will be useful to him for many years to come and also remind him of our respect for his priestly office and our friendship.

Checks must be made out to Fr. James Coleman with the notation "car" on the memo line. Any checks written to Church of Our Lady for this purpose cannot be transferred to Father. All monies received are being tracked by Joe Cardamone to confirm and track them.

Be sure to share our plans with your family and friends who have known Fr. Coleman and would like to show their love and support for him. For those outside of our parish, checks can be sent to the Church of Our Lady mailing address with the notation "car" on the envelope for proper handling.

The Dogma of the Blessed Trinity

The Trinity is the term employed to signify the central doctrine of the Christian religion — the truth that in the unity of the Godhead there are Three Persons, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit, these Three Persons being truly distinct one from another.

Thus, in the words of the Athanasian Creed: "the Father is God, the Son is God, and the Holy Spirit is God, and yet there are not three Gods but one God." In this Trinity of Persons the Son is begotten of the Father by an eternal generation, and the Holy Spirit proceeds by an eternal procession from the Father and the Son. Yet, notwithstanding this difference as to origin, the Persons are co-eternal and co-equal: all alike are uncreated and omnipotent. This, the Church teaches, is the revelation regarding God's nature which Jesus Christ, the Son of God, came upon Earth to deliver to the world: and which she proposes to man as the foundation of her whole dogmatic system.

In Scripture there is as yet no single term by which the Three Divine Persons are denoted together. The word trias (of which the Latin trinitas is a translation) is first found in Theophilus of Antioch about A.D. 180. He speaks of "the Trinity of God [the Father], His Word and His Wisdom (To Autolytus II.15). The term may, of course, have been in use before his time. Afterwards it appears in its Latin form of trinitas in Tertullian (On Pudicity 21). In the next century the word is in general use. It is found in many passages of Origen ("In Ps. xvii", 15). The first creed in which it appears is that of Origen's pupil, Gregory Thaumaturgus. In his Ekthesis tes pisteos composed between 260 and 270, he writes:

"There is therefore nothing created, nothing subject to another in the Trinity: nor is there anything that has been added as though it once had not existed, but had entered afterwards: therefore the Father has never been without the Son, nor the Son without the Spirit: and this same Trinity is immutable and unalterable forever (P.G., X, 986)."

It is manifest that a dogma so mysterious presupposes a Divine revelation. When the fact of revelation, understood in its full sense as the speech of God to man, is no longer admitted, the rejection of the doctrine follows as a necessary consequence.

2023 Easter Altar!

I want to thank so many parishioners and of course, Dan, who helped with the Easter Altar transformation. I know the flowers have been removed but may this photo be a pleasant reminder. Again thanks to all the helping hands and to those who may have helped water the plants. Many hands made a beautiful Altar including the rearranging of plants as they were thinned. Blessings on each and all of you.

St. Vincent dePaul Update

May 8: I would like to thank all of you who have been bringing in food for the parish food pantry. In April it helped when a family came to the door hungry. We were able to give them food. Then refer them to our SVdP committee.

Some of the donated food may also go to parishioners. If we have excess food we offer it to the Bishop Griffin Center. No food goes to waste. So, if you find a good sale think of our pantry, buy extra. Place it in the black bins in each lobby. Non perishable food only. Thank you all. May God shower blessings upon all of you.

Help Protect the Dignity of Life in Ohio

Life in its earliest and most vulnerable stages is threatened by groups proposing an amendment to the Ohio Constitution for the November 2023 ballot to expand and enshrine abortion at the expense of protections for preborn children and women. The Catechism of the Catholic Church proclaims that “human life must be respected and protected absolutely from the moment of conception.” The Church accompanies and supports women facing unexpected pregnancies and mothers through programs like Walking with Moms in Need and the services of Catholic Charities.

The bishops of Ohio strongly encourage Catholics statewide to unite in prayer and work to defeat this proposed amendment and its grave consequences for women and preborn children in Ohio. Starting this week, the following materials about the proposed amendment are available in Ohio parishes:

Protect Them Both Prayer Card: Unite with Catholics across Ohio in asking God to strengthen us as we defend and accompany mothers and preborn children

Dignity of Life Threatened in Ohio Flyer: Learn more about the proposed amendment and what you can do now

These are the first of many resources that will be available to help defeat the proposed amendment. Learn more about the proposed amendment and access resources online at:

PRAYER TO THE HOLY INNOCENTS

Holy Innocents, you died before you were old enough to know what life means, pray for all children who die young that God may gather them into His loving arms.

Holy Innocents, you were killed because one man was filled with hatred, pray for those who hate that God may touch their hearts and fill them with love.

Holy Innocents, you experienced a violent death, pray for all who are affected by violence that they may find peace and love.

Holy Innocents, your parents grieved for you with deep and lasting sorrow, pray for all parents who have lost young children that God may wrap a warm blanket of comfort around them.

Holy Innocents, those around you certainly felt helpless to prevent your deaths, pray for all who feel helpless in their circumstances that they may cling to God for courage and hope.

Holy Innocents, you who are now in Heaven, pray for all of us that one day we may join you there to bask in God’s love forever.

Amen

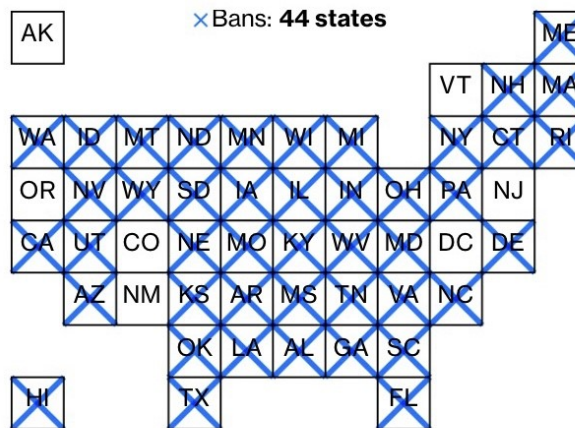

For any who heard Deacon Steve’s homily on May 13, this is a print out of how late a pregnancy may be terminated in each state as of 2023.

Six states (Vermont, New Mexico, New Jersey, Oregon, Colorado, Alaska and Washington DC) have no laws on record as to when you may no longer have an abortion.

Prayer from my heart for the State of Ohio

Please God Almighty hear our prayers. We entrust all life into Your merciful, loving, caring hands. Please bring Ohio and the United States back under Your will. Open our eyes to Your ways, that all life be in Your time. Not in or by human hands but in Yours, Lord God Almighty. Let us say yes to all life as did the Blessed Virgin Mary.

In Jesus name I pray and trust. Please, Our Lord and God, cleanse every soul in this country with gender dysphoria, that all souls may be squeaky clean such that the Precious Blood of Jesus may adhere. I plead the Precious Blood of Jesus upon each and every soul that God's truth prevail; flaws be mended; souls converted; sinners to convert, repent and atone; that God's will be done and His justice be served.

I pray this for every soul in these United States, especially the Executive, Legislative and the Judicial branches and all who have influence over them and for all those in positions of power. Let Ohio bring other states back to You. That we may again be "One Nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all". We thank You God for all that You have done for us. For opening our eyes to Your ways. In Jesus Name I pray and trust. Amen

Blessings of life, love of life, be upon all of you.

Saint Boniface,

Latin Bonifatius, original name Wynfrid or Wynfrith,

Born c. 675, Wessex, England

Died June 5, 754, Dokkum, Frisia [now in the Netherlands];

Feast day June 5,

English missionary and reformer, often called the apostle of Germany for his role in the Christianization of that country.

Boniface set the church in Germany on a firm course of undeviating piety and irreproachable conduct. In his letters and in the writings of his contemporaries, he appears as a man of purpose and dedication, an innovator with a powerful though willful personality.

Boniface belonged to a noble family of Wessex, England. He received an excellent education in the Benedictine abbeys of Adescanastre (Exeter) and Nhutselle (Nursling, between Winchester and Southampton) and became a Benedictine monk, being ordained priest at about age 30. From 716 to 722 he made two attempts to evangelize the Frisian Saxons on the Continent but was blocked by their king, Radbod. On his return to England he learned that his abbot had died and that he had been elected in his stead—an honor he declined in favor of a second attempt at a missionary career. In 718 he accompanied a group of Anglo-Saxon pilgrims to Rome, where Pope Gregory II entrusted him with a mission to the pagans east of the Rhine, asking him only to use the Roman formula for Baptism, rather than the Celtic, and to consult with Rome on major problems arising from his work. Gregory II changed Wynfrid's name to Boniface. In the meantime, Radbod had died (719), and Boniface returned to Frisia to assist his countryman Bishop Willibrord in his missionary activities. In 722 he went to Hesse, where he established the first of many Benedictine monasteries as a means of consolidating his work.

So great was his success that he was called to Rome, where Gregory consecrated him a missionary bishop. The pope also provided him with a collection of canons (ecclesiastical regulations) and letters of recommendation to such important personages as Charles Martel [Charlemagne], master of the Frankish [France] kingdom, whose protection was essential to Boniface's success. It was the pagan awe of Martel's name that allowed Boniface to destroy the sacred oak of the Germanic god Thor at Geismar [Thuringia, Germany].

For 10 years (725–735) Boniface was active in Thuringia, converting pagans and renewing the faith of Christians who had been converted earlier by Irish missionaries, whose haphazard methods of evangelization were henceforth to be the bane of Boniface's life. He met opposition, he said, "from ambitious and free-living clerics" whom he pursued relentlessly, even when they appealed to the popes. On a later occasion, Pope St. Zacharias was forced to moderate the zeal of Boniface, who requested not only excommunication but also solitary confinement for two "heretical" missionaries, Adalbert and Clement the Irishman—sentences that the pope avoided imposing by deliberate delay. Boniface's handling of missionaries whose methods he deplored sheds light on his personality and temperament: he turned immediately to Rome, he expected prompt and ruthless action, and he seems at times to have been excessively severe in his judgments.

Boniface's career was assisted in a unique and moving way by his brother and sister Benedictines from England. They supported him by gifts and encouraged him by their faithful love, expressed in letters that were delightful in their openness and humanity. Their final expression of love for him was to cast their lots with him in Germany, where they formed the nucleus of four monasteries that served as centers of civilized Christian life.

Ordered by Pope Gregory III (731–741) to organize the church in Bavaria, Boniface initially established four bishoprics there. His work had far-reaching political repercussions, for his Christianization of Bavaria paved the way for the ultimate incorporation of the country into the Carolingian Empire. After 740 he added another see in Bavaria and also created three in central Germany. Aided by his new suffragan [subordinate bishop] bishops—for such they were, in fact, though his appointment as Archbishop of Mainz came later (751)—Boniface undertook the reform of the Frankish clergy and, wherever possible, of Irish missionaries. Between 740 and 745, five synods were convened for this purpose. In 747 a reforming council was held for the entire Frankish kingdom with the wholehearted collaboration of Carloman [king of the Franks] and Pippin [Carloman's brother], the sons and heirs of Charles Martel. Though Charles had protected Boniface, he had, at the same time, given church land to his magnates and used the discipline of the church as a means of taming recalcitrant Germanic tribes. Carloman and Pippin, on the other hand, made the decisions of the council of 747 binding in Frankish law.

Boniface's life ended in martyrdom at the hands of a band of pagan Frisians, who killed him as he was reading the Scriptures to Christian neophytes on Pentecost Sunday. Boniface had asked to be buried at Fulda [Germany], the monastery he had entrusted (744) to his Bavarian disciple Sturm. There his body rests in a magnificent baroque sarcophagus.

Organizer, educator, and reformer, Boniface profoundly influenced the course of intellectual, political, and ecclesiastical history in Germany and France throughout the Middle Ages. He unified the missionary movement by bringing it under the control of Rome. Through his monasteries, which furnished bishops and teachers for many generations, he significantly improved the quality of life in the Frankish kingdom.

Prayer for Ohio

Ever-living God, you give life and desire a future for all your children. Take hold of our nation, state, and community and awaken in every heart awe for the gift of life. Send your Spirit to strengthen us with wisdom and fortitude as we defend mothers and children in Ohio from laws that disregard their health and safety.

Mary and Joseph trusted in you and welcomed Jesus into our broken world. Father, we ask their intercession to protect the preborn and their mothers, and to guide all parents in raising their children. May they help us build a civilization of love by upholding the sacredness of life, preserving parental rights, and accompanying pregnant women in need. We ask this through Christ, our Lord. Amen.
